Women's Health Conversations (WHC),

a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, was established in 2013 by Dr. Vonda Wright with the belief that today's generation of women can transform our nation's health for the betterment of all women and the world. It is women who impact individual health and therefore the nation's health. By transforming health, women transform our culture and economy.

Women's Health Conversations is the first of its kind consumer conference specifically designed to Educate,

As CEOs at both work and home, women make more than 80% of healthcare decisions; not only for themselves but for everyone they touch.

Empower and Entertain smart and savvy women to their best health. We control 70% of health and aging through the decisions we make everyday. By transforming the life of one woman, WHC transforms the life of one family, then one city, and eventually the nation.

Within the last year, WHC has expanded its initiatives to include community events, live conferences, books, and video podcasts. Thorough strategic partnerships, WHC has reached over 6.8 million+ through live events, print, billboards, tv radio and online. Join the conversation today!

Women are influencers AT THE CENTER of all key decisions. Transforming the lives of women is AT THE CENTER of WOMEN'S HEALTH CONVERSATIONS.
